Highlight 2: The Alumnae entertained the present students of the school on Sunday, November 8th, at the residence. It was a delightful afternoon with a programme of music by Nadine Yebye and Enid Hawke. Our new president, Ruby Thomas, was in charge, ably assisted by the social committee. By the way, the social committee is under the direction of Molly Maw, and is composed of Winnifred McEvoy, Louise Proctor and Eleanor Keyes. There were about seventy at the party.

News of the School! We rack our brains to find out what news would interest you most. If you could come back for one flying visit what would attract your attention first? Probably the things you could see. Let us go then on a personally conducted tour of the building.

As we enter the spacious hallway (the lights are turned on specially for our benefit), we notice on our left Mrs. Nasmith's magnificent tapestry that formerly graced the walls of the historic building on North Street. Now in a wide black frame it makes an otherwise plain wall a thing of beauty. To our right is the school office newly decorated in a paper of light fawn shades crossed with green and floored with gold, the woodwork a shabby black, new curtains on the windows, and a fern on the safe. Recent graduates particularly will appreciate the change in the office. The library boasts another book-case, lent by the Eaton Girls' Club. By degrees a physical education library is being built up and a card system of letting out books has been started this year. In the gymnasium we find a new blackboard, a fine new tumbling mat, 20' x 4' 8", and the four small mats recovered. All the mats now have removable, factory cotton covers, which protect the mats and are easily laundered. Isn't that a fine idea of Miss Wardley's? The pool looks just as nice as usual, which reminds us, why don't some of you Toronto grads. come in for a swim sometimes? Our plunge rates are very reasonable. And if by any chance you would like to take lessons, Molly Maw is an excellent instructor, full of pep and patience! To resume our tour, none of you, except the very recent graduates, would recognize the swimming pool reception room, where Mrs. Gardner reigns supreme. Her cupboard and counter are on the left as you enter and all the big space to the right is taken up with lockers, chiefly for the Club girls. An innovation has been made by the Club, in the matter of bathing suits. This also affects our students. Swimmers who wish to do so may buy their own blue rayon suits, a new suit on the market, with dye that does not run. These suits are sent to the laundry just as the gray ones are sent, but as each one is labelled, the swimmer gets her own back when she goes into the tank again.

When your eyes turn to the staff (that sounds as if they were all lined up for your inspection!), you see few changes from that of last year. Miss Somers, Miss Wardley, Miss Jackson, full-time; Miss Hobday, Miss Ely, Mrs. Creighton, Mr. Bennett, part-time. Mr. Thornton Mustard, who has taught our Psychology for a number of years had to give it up this fall on account of pressure of work. His place has been taken by Mr. Kendrick, also of the Toronto Normal School staff. Ruby Thomas, '35, again taught the students lacrosse this fall. She was specially prepared by a short course at Miss Appleby's Camp at Mt. Pocono in September. Ever since the return from Tanamakoon, four afternoons a week have been spent at Ramsden Park in organized games - lacrosse, field hockey, tennis and archery. Since the colder weather has been with us, the girls have had club activities once a week: Dramatics with Mr. Bennett; Handcraft under Miss Wardley and Mr. Harold Stacey; Bowling, in charge of Miss Somers, and Fencing, taught by Dorothy Pratt, '22.

Wednesday afternoon, November 30th, was the occasion of the annual school tea held this year at St. George House, 186 St. George Street. Miss Somers and Mrs. Marriott received in the attractive living-room and in the dining-room, Miss Hamilton and Miss Threll, Phyllis Laidlaw McCullagh and Hazel Frawley Dewar poured tea and coffee. Elva Miller, Elizabeth Jarvis and Louise Proctor were social hostesses and members of the senior class assisted. A great many graduates and friends of the school attended.

Miss Eleanor Keyes,
400 Avenue Road, Apt.309,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Miss Keyes,-

We received your application for admission to the physical education course this morning. As was stated in our conversation of several days ago, we are willing to accept you on three months' distinct probation. If at the end of that time, the staff feel that your academic background is not sufficient to enable you to do the work here satisfactorily, you will not be allowed to continue. If however, you show considerable promise, you will be allowed to complete the course on the understanding that you will receive a certificate at graduation instead of the regular diploma.

You got your camp lists and baggage tags, did you not? If not, please let us know and we shall send them out immediately.

We feel sure that you will enjoy the course, and hope that eventually you will complete your matriculation and get our diploma.

Yours sincerely,

Charlotte H. Layton

MEMBERS of the Margaret Eaton School Alumnae Association were hostesses of an enjoyable luncheon to-day at the Granite Club, when they held their annual entertainment in honor of the graduating class. The tables were gay with twisted streamers of green and white, the school colors, intermingled with baby's breath and fern. There were large bowls of apple blossoms in the centre, and long green tapers in front of each place. At the head table were Miss Florence Somers, head of the school; Miss Hazel Frawley, president of the alumnae; Miss Margaret Henderson, past president; honorary members, Mrs. W. B. Atkins and Mrs. C. Farrow; Miss Mary Leask, head girl of the school; Miss Louise Dewar, toast mistress; Miss Dorothy Frazer, secretary; Miss Ruby Thomas, social convener. Bridge followed the luncheon to supplement the scholarship fund and there were novel tally cards symbolical of school days. The graduates are Miss Molly Shaw, Miss Elizabeth Jarvis, Miss Lillian Ross, Miss K. Mackenzie, Miss W. McEvoy, Miss Margaret Robinson, Miss Betty Gilchrist, Miss Betty Snell, Miss Phyllis White, Miss Greta Powell, Miss M. Gurd, Miss Helen Cummings, Miss D. MacFarlane, Miss M. Ferguson, Miss M. Sheafman, Miss M. Barnister, Miss Lucille Kirk, Miss Leona Seagram. Among others attending the luncheon were Miss Mary Barrie, Miss Ethel Thornton, Miss Thral, Miss Ross, Madame Ferguson, Miss Dot Jackson, Mrs. E. H. Eaton, Mrs. Betty, Miss Jane Ferguson, Miss Louise Beatty, Miss Helen Patterson, Miss A. Miller, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Marriott, Miss Layton and many others.
